Description:

LCD phone separator TBK-268 600W is a device for separating the mobile phones of the display, tablets from the frame, it does not matter if the fast is cracked or is completely. The separator will also cope with separating the rear housing flap from the telephone frame. The separator works on the principle of heating: heats both sides of the device in a controlled and safe way to separate the damaged glass from the housing frame. Due to the fact that the separator has two built-in suction zones that are heated, it can operate as a classic LCD separator after sucking in the damaged display.
