Description:

Silicone/Liquid tape/Assembly and sealing glue E8000 universal synthetic rubber adhesive replacing mounting tapes when gluing glass and cell phone frames. Precision metal dispensing tip with a spike in the cap, prevents drying and makes it easier to dispense. The consistency of the glue is fluid and when it solidifies, it forms a rubber structure. The glue after drying is rubber, very sticky, which effectively and securely joins two glued surfaces. Provides excellent strength and stretch of the weld in time. It does not change the structure of the glued material and does not dissolve the plastic. Its structure is nine times more resistant to stretching than other silicone products.
